Jason Pham – Art on a Box Submittal

Artist statement:

As a 7th-grade student at Kazuo Masuda Middle School, I believe that art should exist beyond gallery walls and be integrated into our daily lives. My proposal for the Art on a Box program, titled 'Urban perspectives,' is a photography series that captures Fountain Valley through the lens of a young resident.

My work explores the interaction between light, shadow, and our local environment. I am particularly inspired by the 'golden hour' at Mile Square Park and the way the afternoon sun transforms our streets, sidewalks, and intersections. Rather than using high-end modern gear, I choose to use vintage digital cameras. This specific aesthetic allows me to capture a nostalgic, textured look that makes familiar everyday scenes feel like a memory or a piece of classic art.

This project is about more than just taking pictures; it is about community pride. Often, we pass utility boxes and street corners without a second thought. By wrapping these functional objects in vibrant local photography, we can transform them into landmarks. I want my work to bring a fresh, creative energy to the neighborhood and remind people of the quiet beauty that exists in our town when viewed from the right angle.

I believe that showcasing a student's perspective on these boxes will inspire other young people in Fountain Valley to realize that their voices and their art matter. Through 'Urban perspectives,' I hope to help beautify our local intersections and contribute to the vibrant culture of the city I call home.

My parents are CC'd on this email for consent. Please let me know if you need anything else from my end!

Best,

Jason Pham

Roots and Renewal

This project explores change: how familiar places stay steady even as the world and ourselves are always shifting. It invites viewers to notice the balance between continuity and movement, reflecting the subtle rhythms of daily life in Fountain Valley.

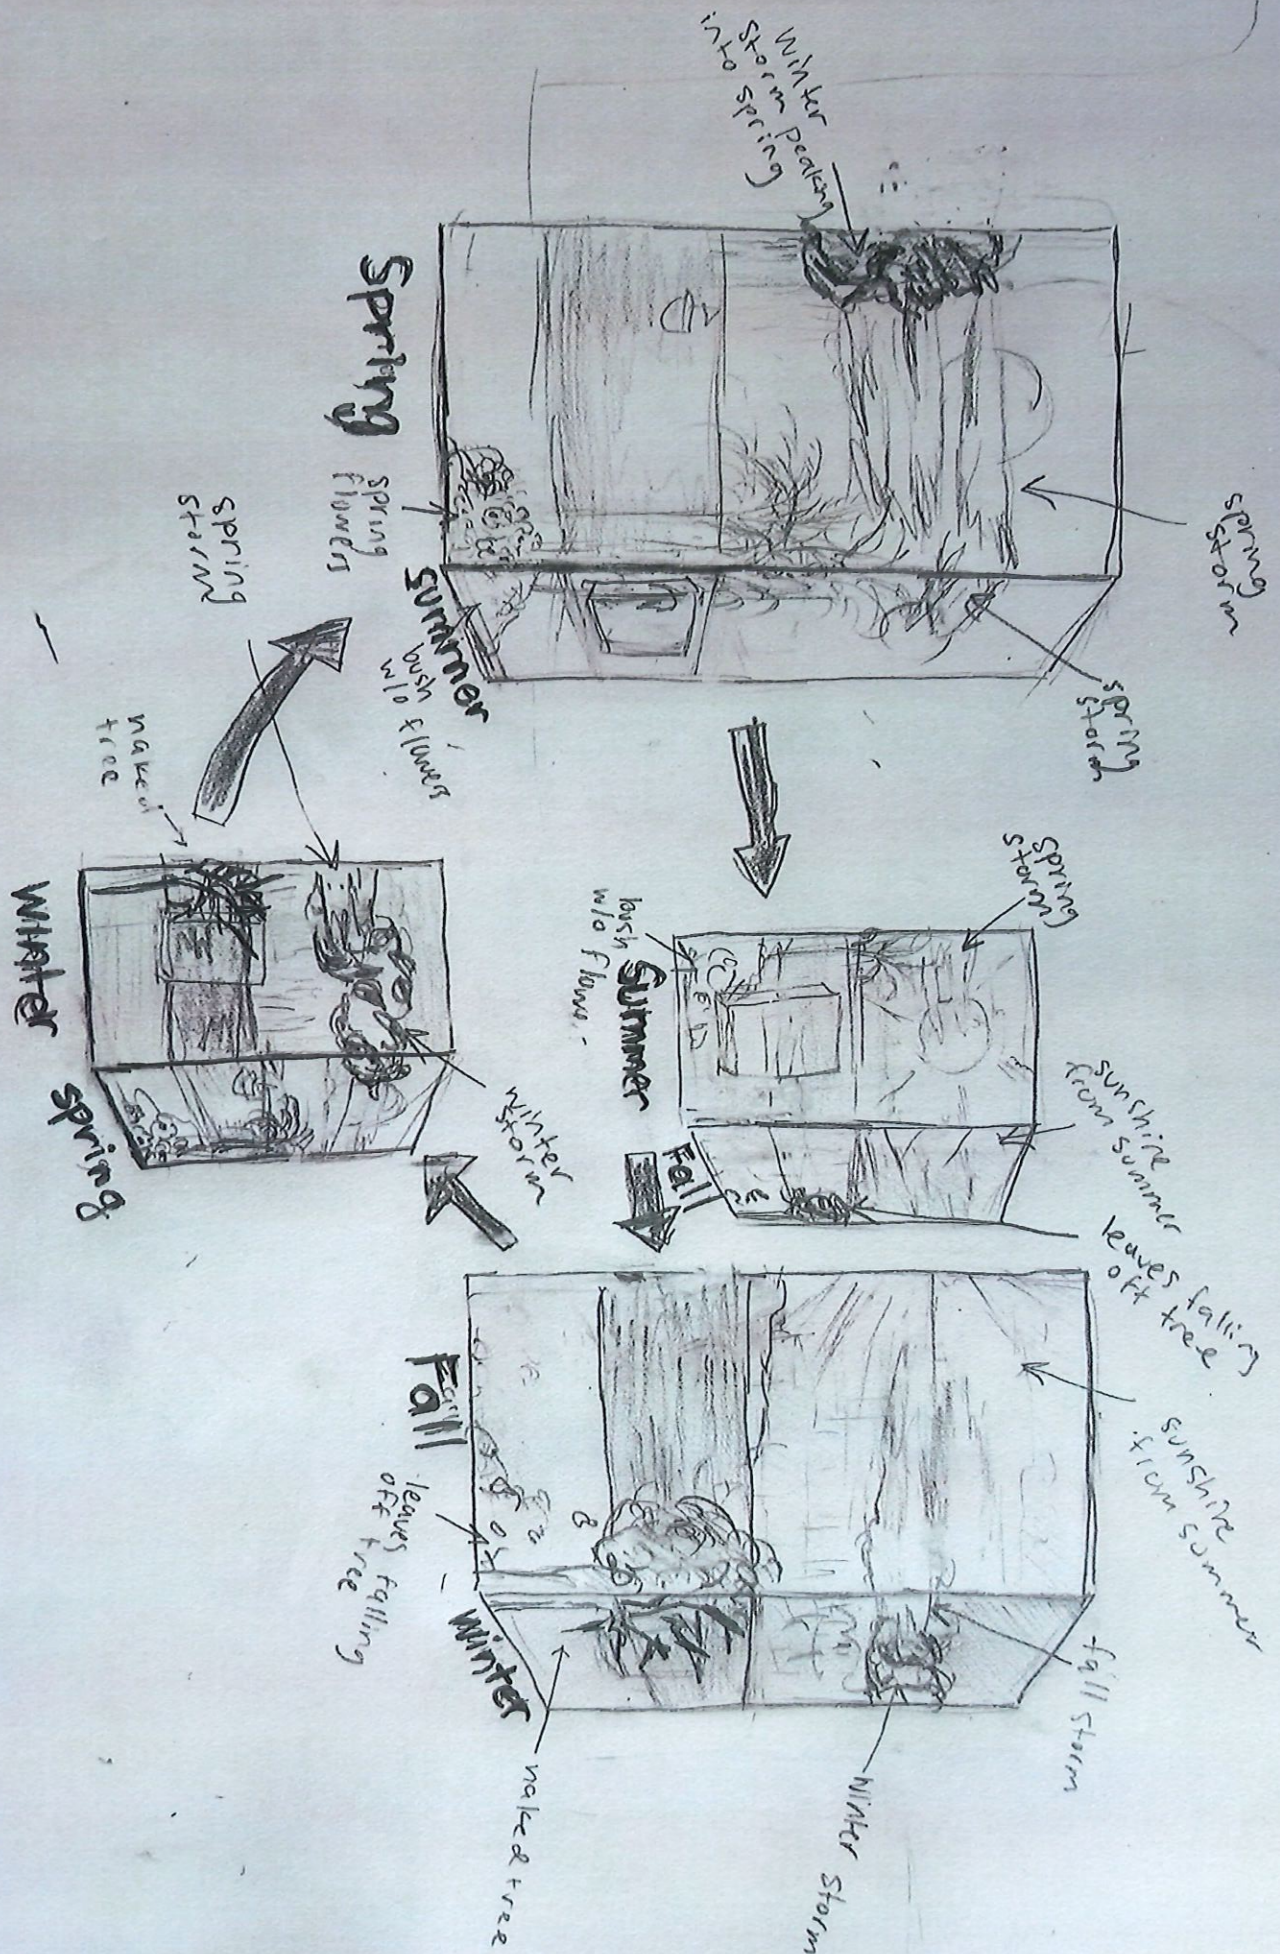

This community offers familiarity and connection, where friendships flourish and family life thrives amid safe streets, parks, and recreational opportunities. The artwork reflects this rootedness while also acknowledging the movement and change that shape both place and self. Returning to this quiet suburban town after nearly a decade away reveals a duality: the town hasn't changed much, yet memories and daily life continue to evolve how we see it.

The project transforms a functional utility box into a point of beauty, reflection, and connection. Residents are encouraged to pause and notice subtle shifts in their environment — light, weather, and seasonal changes often overlooked. The imagery is direct and approachable, designed for immediate engagement without prior context.

Two visual directions are proposed:

- Blending with the Environment: The box is painted to blend seamlessly with its surroundings, matching colors, shapes, and textures behind it. This site-specific approach creates the effect that the box almost disappears while highlighting the coexistence of continuity and change.
- Seasonal Journey: Each side of the box depicts a different season, showing a beach scene or a recognizable Fountain Valley landmark. Changing skies, clouds, waves, vegetation, and light convey the passage of time and natural cycles, offering a dynamic visual experience that encourages viewers to notice subtle shifts throughout the year.

Both approaches turn the utility box into a small landmark that draws attention to subtle environmental changes. The work is family-friendly, accessible, and encourages repeated viewing, fostering community pride and connection. The box highlights change in two ways: through the artwork itself and the effects of weather over time. This duality invites reflection on the familiar and the evolving. Although the visual approaches differ, they share a single unifying concept: observing the balance between continuity and change.

Briefly bullet point your key Programs and Services.

Originally founded in 1924 as the Santa Ana Community Chest, Orange County United Way (United Way) is the result of the 1984 merger of 17 local, independent United Ways. Today, we address the social determinants of health in our communities - education, financial stability, housing, and access to essential care - so that students succeed, families achieve financial security, and everyone has a place to call home. Last year, we served more than 220,000 Orange County residents through our key initiatives and community service:

- United for Student Success
- United for Financial Security
- United to End Homelessness
- 2-1-1- Orange County (211OC)

Briefly describe the Organization's Key Initiatives, Accomplishments and/or Challenges over the Past Two Years.

United for Student Success implements programs and services to ensure students from Orange County's underserved districts receive the support they need to stay on track in school, graduate high school on time, and are prepared for college, career, and life.

United for Financial Security works to ensure that local families are on the path to financial security by delivering programs that help establish a safety net, strengthen financial wellness, and develop workforce solutions.

United to End Homelessness is building an Orange County where everyone has a safe and affordable place to call home and opportunities to thrive.

2-1-1 Orange County (211OC) is a 24/7 multilingual hotline and community resource hub addressing disaster relief, health and food insecurity, and community support. We help 200,000 people per year to access and connect to a growing network of essential service providers, with data-driven insights to create a more human-centered care system.

In all of our programming, Orange County United Way has experienced sharp increases in requests for assistance with everyday households needs: food, housing, affordable childcare, healthcare, and employment that pays a living wage. In the past six months especially, federal and state funding cuts to nutritional assistance, housing, and social services have increased pressure on nonprofits. We have risen to these challenges, with the personalized, compassionate approach for which United Way is known.

Launched in August 2024, 211OC's total referrals to our network of service providers have increased 62% over the past three years, driven by an increase in referrals per request— from three to five — suggesting more comprehensive needs assessments and more complex situations for the individuals and families in crisis whom we serve.

Within our United for Student Success initiative, the quick pivot to remote, then hybrid, programming which we implemented during the global pandemic, has continued to engage growing numbers of students, parents, schools and future employers. We focus on hands-on technical skills, as well as the uniquely human abilities young people need to compete (communication, collaboration, resilience, etc.) in an era of rapid transformation for the STEAM sectors that power our region.

Briefly describe the Project for which funding is sought.

United for Student Success is an initiative serving under-resourced high school students who will be the first in their families to attend college and/or pursue professional careers. Our team partners with school districts and corporations, including Hyundai Motor North America, throughout Orange County to provide more than 2,000 students per year with college and career readiness programming focused on STEAM. Our programs fuel the ambition of local youth by opening doors that might otherwise remain closed to them. We intentionally focus on careers in our region's most in-demand STEAM sectors and collaborate with school district Career Technical Education (CTE) or Vocational Arts Visual and Performing Arts (VAPA) departments to ensure students can earn school credit through our programming. VAPA provides career-focused training in dance, music, theatre, media, and visual arts, often aligning with CTE standards which focus on business, engineering, IT, the health/medical field, construction and manufacturing/product design.

Internships are especially scarce for youth without social/family connections to local and global companies with a presence in Orange County. We directly assist youth in developing their own relationships with local employers, which are interested in sustaining Orange County's workforce by hiring qualified local talent in the near future. Since 2016, United for Student Success has helped more than 2,400 students to secure professional workplace internships in our region's rapidly growing STEAM-related industries.

In addition to ensuring eligibility for school credit, Orange County United Way provides students with transportation allowances and stipends for internships, so that students do not have to choose low-wage part-time summer jobs over this invaluable investment in their futures. The United for Student Success team would be delighted to work with Hyundai Motor North America as part of our corporate internship program in Summer 2026. To hear directly from past interns, please view this video, which features a student from Fountain Valley along with her peers from other schools and employees from other local companies who worked with our students:

What is expected to be achieved?

United for Student Success will serve a total of 2,000 students per academic year and summer through the following programs:

1) Youth Career Connections will engage 1,500 students in work-based learning opportunities in which they engage with corporate volunteers from their fields of interest, including: workplace tours and industry site visits; career sector speaker event/panels; mock interview workshops; and internships at local companies, with 200 students securing 4-6 week internships.

2) Destination Graduation will engage 400 students with College Level-Up, a workshop series for families focused on the college application process, financial aid, and scholarships - for both 4-year and 2-year degree programs. Workshops for parents are offered in English, Spanish, Vietnamese, and Korean.

3) The Workforce Accelerator, housed within Youth Career Connections, will provide 150 high school juniors (11th graders) currently enrolled, with targeted career coaching, counseling and connections to potential employers in their chosen industry sectors—including workplace internships. Students will earn college credit via their school district's Dual Enrollment (DE) program.

Among students served, our measurable outcomes include the following:

- 100% of high school students in year-round programming will graduate on time with Career Technical Education (CTE) credits and/or internships, attend college and/or have a plan to pursue career fields of interest.
- 100% of high school summer interns will earn a CTE pathway completer certificate, five school credits, and a $500 scholarship for educational expenses.

Orange County United Way is one of the only organizations that can do this work, primarily because of our strong connections with schools, school districts, and many companies and employer partners. We are able to connect students to the professional workforce in a way that no other nonprofit can. In addition to our six-person United for Student Success team and our entire organization, more than 1,000 corporate volunteers contribute their valuable time and expertise. They host student interns and workplace tours, speak at events, review resumes, conduct mock interviews, and serve as role models and mentors for the young people we serve.

Orange County United Way is very grateful to Hyundai Motor America for its consistent year-round volunteerism— from in-classroom reading to promote literacy at elementary schools in the fall and spring, to assembling school supply kits in the summer and “Jingle Kits” to brighten the holidays for local military veterans in the winter. As part of United for Student Success (please see the optional brochure emailed to the Fountain Valley Community Foundation as part of this application), Hyundai has been recognized for its employees' volunteer contributions as mock interviewers in our Youth Career Connections program for the past three years. Thank you for inspiring local students as they refine the communication and presentation skills that will help them build brighter futures.

Briefly describe the Population that will be served by this Project.

United for Student Success serves students across Orange County, with primary focus on schools in the cities of Anaheim, Brea, Fountain Valley, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana, Westminster, and Yorba Linda. Among the schools where we work, an average of 79% of students qualify for free or reduced price meals based on household income. Each year, the majority of young people we serve come from immigrant Latino/Hispanic (65%) and Asian (22%) households, and they will be the first in their families to attend college. We empower youth who have faced socioeconomic barriers throughout their lives, so that they can pursue professional careers of their choice, with opportunities for growth and advancement. If awarded, Orange County United Way would restrict use of a Hyundai Community Grant to exclusively support the participation of youth from Fountain Valley in United for Student Success.
